CHARGED WITH $25,000 THEFT

A. W. Quigg of Pawtucket is Implicated in the Looting of A. O. U. W. Funds

Providence, Sept. 29.—A second arrest first for $5000, dated Jan. 7, 1908. The rest was made here this afternoon in connection with the alleged looting of the beneficial funds of the Ancient Order of United Workmen of Rhode Island, of which J. Irving Davis, a lodge officer, was the custodian. The arrested man is Alfred W. Quigg, a broker, 54 years old, having an office at 635 Grosvenor Building and residing at 8 Howard av., Pawtucket. Quigg is accused by the police of larceny of $25,000 from Jacob Irving Davis, the property of the Grand Lodge of the A. O. U. W. The arrest was made by Inspector Ahern who also arrested Davis Friday afternoon on a warrant alleging that he had embezzled $36,000 from the A. O. U. W. Davis, it is alleged, frankly admitted he had taken more than $51,000, or within $500 of the entire reserve fund entrusted to his care, but he said to have offered no explanations save that the money had been taken within the last four years and that he had probably bankrupted the order. Davis pleaded not guilty and was held in $40,000 bail, failing to secure which he was committed to the Providence County Jail. He was silent until yesterday afternoon, when his counsel saw him at the jail. As a result a call was made on Chief Inspector Horton and a story told him which was acted upon today. When arrested Quigg was taken to headquarters and questioned. He was confronted with the statement that he had given Davis four notes, the

JOHNSON ASKED TO EXPLAIN

Committeeman Esterbrook Asks the California Governor About His Political Slanders

New York, Sept. 24, 1912. Hon. Hiram W. Johnson, Sacramento, California. Sir—I am astonished at the remarks made by you, as reported, in your speech before the State convention of your new party at Columbus, Ohio, on September 5. It is reported that you said: "Do not for a minute consider the President in this race. He is a negligible quantity. It is with shame as an American citizen, that I say today the most humiliating character in American history is the President of the United States." Lack of Respect for Presidential Office. If you did not make this statement as reported you ought to disavow it at once. If you did make it you ought to apologize to the American people. It is about the most shameful and disgraceful statement ever uttered by a candidate in a presidential contest. It is an insult to the people of the whole country for you to refer thus to their president. It reveals an entire lack of respect on your part for the high office of the president of the United States. It is one of the fine characteristics of the American people that they do sincerely respect the dignity of their chief executive and that they regard this office as the highest in the world. They consider that the incumbent of it is entitled to respectful consideration by every citizen. They resent your foolish public reference to the president as "the most humiliating character in American history," and they will undoubtedly see to it that the man who made this statement is not placed in a position where he may be called on to occupy the high office he has sought to bring into contempt. I do not believe for a moment that you represent the viewpoint and character of the western people. I believe that they respect the presidency fully as much as any other of our people, and that they will get the true measure of your character and act accordingly. Your statement illustrates your lack of the first elements of fairness. You urge the American people to pass over the president without consideration. You urge them to neglect and dismiss him without a minute's thought. You preach much about fairness and justice but you will not be fair to an opponent. But I well understand why you are anxious to have no consideration given to President Taft. You know that consideration of him and his record must bring esteem and support, and that is what you are trying to break down. President Taft's Remarkably Efficient Administration. Your statement and attitude concerning the president seem to be tainted with the vice of hypocrisy for as a man of affairs you must know as well as others that the administration of President Taft has been a notable one for important achievements of statesmanship and accomplished results for the welfare and progress of our people. You must know that your statement is shamefully false and meanly contemptible. As you know, in foreign affairs President Taft has won

HIGH SCHOOL OPEN FOOT- BALL SCHEDULE WITH DEFEAT

Unable to Hold Dover High and Fumble Badly--Maplewoods Win From Sanborn.

The High school football team played their first schedule game on Saturday afternoon at Dover and made a very poor showing, being defeated by the high school team of that town 24 to 0.

The local team were heavier and at the start looked like winners as they rushed the ball down to the ten yard line in a short time, but a fumble lost them a chance to score. It was in this department of the game where they showed up the weakest, being unable to hold the ball. The line held very well, but it was slow getting away and Dover pulled off several tick plays which netted long gains, the ends on one or two occasions being drawn in badly.

The team has a good bunch of material, but they are slow and handle the ball wretchedly, and it will require considerable practice to speed them up. They are a willing lot and Dover was unable to do a thing on the straight rushes.

New York, Sept. 30.—Although is a better backstop than the "Big Chief" Meyers is the regular catcher of the Giants, there is a possibility that Art Wilson, the second string man, may do the bulk of the work behind the bat in the world's series. Probably no backstop in the National league has shown as much improvement as has the Giants' youngster this season. A no less authority than Joe, Tucker, the "Cubs' great shortstop, believes that Wilson

OBITUARY.

Peter H. O'Neill.

Peter H. O'Neill, aged 28, better known as "Happy," died early Saturday morning at the residence of his parents, 153 Princeton street, East Boston, after a lingering illness.

About six weeks ago Mr. O'Neill underwent an operation for stomach trouble, after which he was taken to the Summer home of his parents at Marble Lake. While there he did not show any decided improvement, and was brought to his home in East Boston about three weeks ago. After arriving home he grew steadily worse, and a week ago all hopes for his recovery were given up.

Mr. O'Neill was born in East Boston, attended the Chapman School, and was graduated from the East Boston High School in 1903. At the High School he was captain of Co. L School Cadets. Mr. O'Neill was a long writer of no little ability, his songs being sung at many of the theatres in Boston. He was a member of the music firm of O'Neill & Story, on Tremont street.

Mr. O'Neill was past grand knight of Fitton Council, K. of C., East Boston, and at the time he was elected was the youngest man in the State to hold that position. He was also president of the East Boston Catholic Literary Association. The plans for his funeral have not been completed as yet.

Mr. O'Neill is the son of Peter H. O'Neill superintendent of construction of bridges for the city of Boston. He was well known in this city, where he had a great many friends.

George W. Smith.

George W. Smith, aged 66, died Saturday evening at his home on Falls Court as the result of a paralytic shock sustained Saturday morning. He was born in Newmarket, the son of Samuel and Mary Smith. He had made his home in this city for the past 15 years, being employed the greater portion of the time as a clerk in the Mugridge Clothing store. He leaves a wife and two sisters, Mrs. E. A. Gowan of Dover, the other residing in Northwood.

George Beasley.

Word was received here on Sunday of the death in Somerville of George Beasley, formerly of this city. He was injured some time ago and had developed typhoid fever. He was 39 years of age and a young man who had a great many friends here. He leaves a mother and several brothers and sisters.

Arthur Davis.

Arthur Davis died at the Portsmouth hospital on Sunday after a long illness, at the age of 31 years. He was a native of Eliot and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Davis. He was taken ill last January and in June he had two operations performed, and since that time he has been failing. He was taken to the hospital last Friday and rapidly grew worse. He was a young man who had a host of friends.

He leaves besides his parents, three sisters, Mrs. Albert Vothelbe, Mrs. Joseph Maddock and Miss Florence Davis, all of this city, and a brother, Irving Davis, of this city.

EQUIP CADILLACS WITH WIRELESS FOR TOUR

Will be Used in Lake Michigan Reliability Run.

Entry of two cars equipped with wireless telegraph instruments is promised by the Northwestern Military and Naval Academy of Lake Geneva, Wis., for the "around Lake Michigan" reliability run of the Chicago Motor Club. This will inject into the contest a feature that is really unique. The cars will be the same cars which the cadets drove in the 1912 Glidden tour.

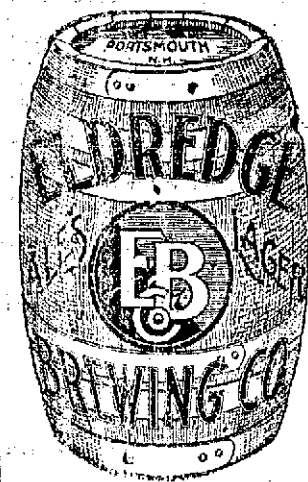

This announcement was made to chairman Root of the contest committee of the Motor Club by Colonel R. P. Davidson, superintendent in charge of the academy who is not only greatly interested in this rough and ready tour, but has always been impressed with the possibilities of the automobile in war when supplied with wireless, guns and other equipment for field work. It will be impossible for the students to man the cars because school is in session now, but Colonel Davidson purposes to get graduates to go on the trip.

"My idea," he writes, "would be to send the cars as escorts, or as aids to the officials or in any other way that would be valuable to the promoters."

Haverhill I. W. W. members, 6200 strong, were the first after Lawrence to vote for the general strike. Most of them are shoe workers. After they go out on the protest strike today they will present demands for wage increases to the shoe manufacturers.

IN BRIEF.

Hartford, Ct., Sept. 29—An action has begun against the Central Vermont Railway Company by U. S. Dist. Atty. F. A. Scott, in which the federal government asks that the railway company be penalized $500 on each of five counts, for alleged violation of the federal statutes regarding the over-working of employees. The bill of complaint says the Central Vermont kept an engineer and train crew at work more than 16 consecutive hours on Feb. 13 and 14 of this year.

Windsor, Ct., Sept. 29—From dispatches received here it is believed that the woman who committed suicide in the rapids at Niagara Falls, Wednesday, was Mrs. George H.

Her husband received a letter from Niagara Falls, in which she says she was not well and that he need not expect her home again. Mr. Fitch has offered a reward for news of her whereabouts.

Springfield, Sept. 29—The Knox Automobile Company of Springfield, manufacturers of automobile fire apparatus, assigned Saturday to Edward O. Sutton and Harry G. The plant will not be closed, Mr. Sutton said.

Providence, Sept. 29—Jacob Irving Davis pleaded not guilty when arraigned in court Saturday on a charge of embezzling $24,000 from the Ancient Order of United Workmen, of which he is grand recorder for the Rhode Island grand lodge. The trial was set for Oct. 15 and in default of $40,000 bail demanded by the local court was remanded to jail.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 29—Objections of local ministers to the appearance here state fair week of Pastor Russell of Brooklyn and London tabernacles will not cause the state board of agriculture to cancel their arrangements with the minister, according to Secretary Dickerson. NEW CLIMATE FOR THE NORTH

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—Carroll Livingston Biker, a New York engineer, proposes to change the climate of the whole Atlantic coast of North America and to alter even the solar inclination of the earth. His plan is to send the great heat-bearing Gulf stream unchilled into the very heart of the Arctic. The warm current, he maintains, would melt the frozen polar seas, and by this substitution of water for ice he believes the earth would swing around a bit on its polar axis and present to the more direct rays of the sun the regions that are now uninhabitable for most of the human race.

Not only that, but he would at the same time, he declares, open the ice-bound harbors of eastern Canada for a whole year's shipping; do away with the fogs of the Labrador and Newfoundland coasts and on the northern Atlantic, and, finally, put an end to the great wandering icebergs on the steamship tracks that made the Titanic disaster possible.

The total cost of this work he estimates at $100,000,000, a sum far below the cost of the Panama canal, and the accomplishment of the work he declares will be much simpler. He believes that it can be done and in this way:

A jetty would be built extending eastward from Newfoundland across the waters on the Great Banks and east thereof until a wall is formed which will intercept the cold northern Labrador current, turn it eastward until it meets the north flowing Gulf stream in deep water. The greater part of the cold stream would pass under the warm current, he declares, and the ice-laden upper part be deflected north again.

To carry out the plan the jetty, says Mr. Biker, would need to be 200 miles long, but a jetty 25 miles long projecting out from Cape Race would modify the climate from Newfoundland to Cape Hatteras and do away with the fogs, the extreme cold of winter and bring an earlier spring to the northern parts of this continent.

The bride is a talented and popular young lady in her home city and both have hosts of friends who will join in wishing happiness to the groom and his youthful bride.

MEMORIAL WINDOW.

A window in memory of the late Rear Admiral George F. Pearson, U. S. N., who was commander of the Portsmouth navy yard from 1880 to 1884, was recently dedicated in St. John's church, Portsmouth, N. H. The window is a gift of Mr. Thomas R. Proctor, of Utica, N. Y., formerly a paymaster in the U. S. navy, and who was stationed at Portsmouth while Admiral Pearson was commandant, and who was later the Admiral's secretary when he commanded the Pacific squadron. The window contains four allegorical figures, representing Faith, Hope, Fortitude and Wisdom, and has a bas relief of Admiral Pearson in the center.—Army and Navy Journal.

NEW CASTLE

On Wednesday Mrs. Harriet Martin, this town's oldest resident, celebrated the 95th anniversary of her birth at her attractive home on Main street and received the hearty congratulations of her relatives and friends who culled during the day. A wealth of cut flowers, ferns and garden flowers composed the decorations which made a very effective adornment for this festive occasion, conspicuous among which was a beautiful potted plant bearing the card, "From the youngest to the oldest, Izola Murry Prohaska," the charming little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prohaska, Jr. Many tokens of esteem were received and graciously acknowledged by her. All those who remembered the date sent some tangible remembrance by mail.

Active in mind and body her great age could never be suggested by her appearance.

Among those to join in congratulations was her sister, Mrs. Sarah Neal, who is 85 years old.

Dainty refreshments were served which included a generous helping of birthday cake compounded upon "Ye Olden Tyme" recipe of pound for pound which was made by this venerable woman.

New Castle is very proud of her oldest representative and her life is a luminous example of a well spent life. May she live to see many more such anniversaries and honor the town by her presence.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey White, after a brief visit to their cottage, have returned to their home in Farmington. The genial season of the county fair at Rochester this week has attracted not a few from the island town. While the exhibitions may have become a bit overladen with vandeville the foundation of the show is as ever—fat cattle, prize pigs, horse races, huge vegetables and patchwork quilts. None but the most ardent of pessimists can attend without rejoicing in the earth and the fulness thereof.

Mrs. Julia H. Reddin, who has been visiting relatives at the Sea Breeze, has returned to her home in Somerville. Ordinance Sergt. Starr's family is to occupy the cottage which is soon to be vacated by Sergt. Major Erickson.

DR. WRIGHT ARRAIGNED.

BOSTON, Sept. 29—Dr. James H. Wright of 1563 Beacon street, Brookline, was arraigned Saturday before United States Commissioner Hayes on a complaint charging that he "knowingly and fraudulently failed to declare" certain articles to the United States Customs officials on his return from Europe in the Cunard liner Lancia on Sept. 11. He was held in $500 for a hearing on Thursday.

The complaint alleges that the articles not declared included one fur stole, two overcoats, two suits of clothing, one black satin wrap, one pair of silk portieres and one and one-half yards of cotton lace. "On appraisal the goods were considered to be worth $1100. Dr. Wright is on the staff of the Massachusetts General Hospital.

The first car load of 1912 Cadillac automobiles were received Saturday by Chas. E. Woods, the local dealer. The demands for them is heavier this season than ever before, and orders have been received for September and October allotment.

The 1912 Cadillac is far ahead in power, beauty, luxury, and rim improvements of any car built.

President Taft's Progressive Sympathies.

The word "Progressive" is about the most overworked word in our politics. It used to signify a man of liberal political philosophy, who was not closely bound down to the traditions of the past, but expected the coming of new light, new men and new measures.

The "progressive" of today, however, is much more like what used to be denoted by the word "radical," or, indeed, by that of "revolutionary."

President Taft has every title to be considered a real progressive. He simply does not want to go so fast as to sacrifice and shatter the results that have been obtained by long years of upbuilding and sacrifice.

President Taft urged the postal savings banks, which provide a place of savings which a host of working people find helpful to their needs. He established a tariff board, which did a great deal to take the tariff out of politics, until its life was cut off by a democratic congress.

President Taft favored a downward revision of the tariff, as far as can be accomplished without sacrificing American industries. He considers no tariff schedule as sacred, but expects that as American industries develop, they will from time to time be able to give up something of their tariff defenses.

President Taft has been a sincere advocate of the conservation policy. Say the worst you can against Secretary Ballinger, no one can deny that Mr. Ballinger's successor was one of the leaders of the most advanced guard of the conservation movement.

President Taft has been a very ardent advocate of reform of our judicial procedure, particularly in remedying the law's delays. His proposals along this line would do much more to put justice in the reach of the poor man than the so-called "Progressive" project to place court decisions at the mercy of popular elections, with all their uncertainties.

President Taft has rigidly enforced the progressive laws created to restrict the aggressions of great corporations. His action in holding up the advances in railroad rates was estimated to save the public about $30,000,000. Many other progressive achievements could be mentioned did space permit.—Manchester Mirror.

The Philadelphia-Ledger says that at the semi-centennial of the war governors' conference in Altoona President Taft, who has known what it is to be maligned and misunderstood, dwell upon the encouragement given Abraham Lincoln in a crucial hour by that remarkable meeting of September, 1862, inspired by Andrew G. Curtin, Pennsylvania's great war governor. The meeting was held just after the emancipation proclamation was issued. Lincoln, in any event, would have persisted inflexibly, to the bitter end, in the course that he had chosen. But when these governors unreservedly endorsed his attitude, and in token of their approval offered to raise 100,000 additional troops, he had the realization—as President Taft has said—of the fact that he did not stand in courageous isolation; there was behind him the aroused determination of the people of the north to help him save the Union. Critics and Job's comforters Lincoln had in plenty. These governors pledged their active effort—they came forward with a practical measure of assistance. It is fitting that their deed should be commemorated and extolled by the living generation that has entered upon the rich inheritance of their toil, their sacrifice and their steadfastness.

Our idea of a hero is a newspaper reporter starting out after news when there isn't any.—Concord Patriot.

This is certainly a fitting tribute to the pencil pushers, but we fear that the supply of laurel wreaths is altogether too limited. It, however, aptly illustrates the old saying, "The pen is mightier than the sword."

Governor Hiram Johnson of California is the son of the notorious Railroad Boss Johnson. "Hiram" was thrown down by the railroad when the Southern Pacific refused to make him vice-president of the road. Our citizens should read the record of Hiram Johnson before they take him seriously.

The Chicago Record-Herald says: It is true. Living costs more than it used to. The federal bureau of labor has issued a report confirming the rumor. We had hoped the story might at last have turned out to have been unfounded.

The Philadelphia Telegraph says persons who are wishing the campaign were over will not be cheered by the reflection that Congress meets early in December.

GOVERNORS APPEAL TO BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA TO PROTECT FORESTS.

Governor John A. Dix of New York State Has Asked the Leaders to Develop a Plan by Which the Boys May Prevent or Fight Forest Fires—New Hampshire Also Has Appealed for Help.

The Governors and the Forestry Commissioners of many States have appealed to the Boy Scouts of America to help fight and prevent forest fires. Governor John A. Dix of New York state has asked the leaders of the Boy Scouts of America to cooperate with the State in the conservation of the forest. The Forest Commission of New Hampshire has offered medals to the Boy Scouts of that state for work done in suppressing or preventing forest fires. As a result of his request plans are being developed by James E. West, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America, George H. Merritt, Secretary of the Editorial board, and other leaders with a view of training the Boy Scouts in the detection and prevention of such fires. The idea of Governor Dix in regard to the Boy Scouts is outlined clearly in a letter written to the Boy Scouts of America by Hon. Eckford C. DeKay, Secretary to the Governor, Albany, New York, as follows:

"Governor Dix is extremely interested in the movement of the Boy Scouts of America and would like to confer with some member of the Council in regard to the co-operation between the state and the various troops of Boy Scouts located within its borders. He had directed me to write to you with a view of having a conference at an early date either in Albany or in New York. The latter place, however, would be convenient upon his making the trip for other purposes.

"As you know, Governor Dix is extremely interested in the matter of forest preservation, especially as it affects the State. It is his belief that the Boy Scouts could be of valuable service to the Commonwealth and to posterity could they be utilized in the detection and prevention of forest fires. This, of course, would be utilizing the scouts to the greatest possible benefit to the community and to themselves and were they to take up this matter earnestly and efficiently, it might be possible to arrange in some way to obtain the co-operation of the State in some small financial way.

"I trust that you will give this matter your immediate attention, conferring with the proper officials of the Association and advising me in the matter at your earliest convenience."

E. C. Hirst, State Forester of New Hampshire, has appealed to the Boy Scouts to extinguish forest fires. In a letter to James E. West, Forester, Hirst says: "The following medals have been offered by the President of the forestry Commission: one gold medal, three silver medals, five bronze medals, each bearing the name of the recipient, the date and year, the insignia of the Boy Scouts of America and the New Hampshire Forestry Commission, and to be awarded by a Committee consisting of the Governor, the State Forester and the Scout Commissioner designated by the Chief Scout Executive. 'The above medals would be awarded for distinguished service in putting out a fire in helping to fight a fire, or in reporting a fire or fires to the proper State official. A full report of each case should be written by the Scout Master as soon as possible after the service is performed and forwarded to the State Forester, Concord, New Hampshire, bearing the approval of the Town Forest Fire Warden.

"Great care should be taken in appraising the boys of the medals to lay emphasis upon the condition that all reports on fires must be immediately made to the State officials first hand and before its presence is discovered by others and that the starting of fire by carelessness will be equally as severely dealt with by the State officials."

How Good Scouts Act. High praise has been reached the National Headquarters concerning the work of the Boy Scouts of America in Connersville, Indiana, during a recent fair. Concerning the work done by the scouts one person has written: "Time after time the word was brought to the scouts that some child was lost or that a child was found whose parents were wildly searching for it. The boy scouts would issue forth on a run. In an amazingly short while, by pursuance of some system of their own, they would scour the entire grounds and in nearly every instance they would bring the separated parties together in a little while. They found many lost articles and returned them to owners. They kept a watch at dangerous places and may have saved lives by their vigilance."

Boy Scouts have been hired by the Beverly Improvement Society, Beverly, Massachusetts, to keep the beaches and the streets along the water front clear of paper, baskets, sticks and pieces of wood.

never seen the newspaper property Quigg was to purchase.

Quigg took his arrest calmly, telephoning to his wife from Headquarters not to worry. It was, he said, but a little business transaction which would come out all right so far as he was concerned.

The officers of the A. O. U. W. say that while the loss of their funds is a serious blow to the organization, they believe they can weather it. The only hope visible just now is realization on the $25,000 bond Davis gave through a security company although Davis has said he would make restitution.

As Chief Horton figured it up to-night, Davis turned over to Quigg $34,000 as shown by the notes and $5500 in loans, which if substantiated by evidence, would make it appear that all but $11,000 of the missing A. O. U. W. funds went in one direction.

"Less Butter— More Cottolene in Your Kitchen"

THE cost of living has increased so that today one's income goes only about half as far as it did 15 years ago. Under such circumstances it is surely up to every housewife to count the cost of food pretty carefully.

Butter is one of the big items on every monthly expense account. We use too much butter, and butter is sky high most of the time.

Let us tell you the solution to the problem. Butter is a necessary on the table; it is an extravagance in the kitchen.

Cottolene will give you just as good or better results than butter in cooking, at half the cost. It makes deliciously dry, crisp food, without the suggestion of grease.

Food cooked with Cottolene digests more easily than either butter- or lard-cooked food.

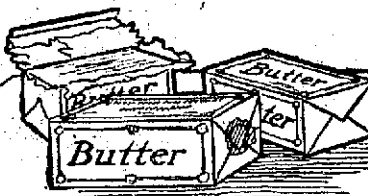

Add to these the fact that Cottolene will go one-third farther than butter or lard, and you are without a possible excuse for at least giving Cottolene a trial.

We assure you it will make good and save you money.

LIGHTKEEPER BURKE GETS A SHORE STATION

After passing nearly a quarter of a century as light keeper at Boon Island and White Island at the Isles of Shoals, Capt. James Burke has decided to try a similar job ashore, and on Oct. 1 will assume charge of the Cape Neddick light at York Beach, Maine.

Capt. Burke is influenced in making the change of stations, so that his wife and daughter can be on the mainland and the latter have school privileges. He will be succeeded as keeper of White Island light by Joseph C. Brown of Two Brush Island, Maine.

Capt. James Burke was born in Portsmouth, Aug. 1, 1848, the son of Daniel and Hannah Orme Burke. His education was gained in the local schools and when he was 14 years old he began to follow both fishing and the coasting trade.

In October, 1888, he received his appointment of second assistant keeper at Boon Island Light and two years later was made first assistant. In the fall of 1890, while at this station, he went off to the schooner City of Ellsworth, lumber laden, and took off the captain and crew in the teeth of a gale. The schooner afterward came ashore on Boon Island and was a total loss.

On Nov. 5, 1890, he was appointed keeper and placed in charge of Burnt Island Light Station at Boothbay, where he remained until March, 1894, when he was transferred to White Island Light, Isles of Shoals, to take the position made vacant by the resignation of Capt. David Greenwood.

During his 18 years of service as keeper Capt. Burke has had many thrilling experiences and assisted in saving many lives.

He has been married twice; his present wife was Mrs. Addie Orme of Boothbay, Me., to whom he was married Dec. 12, 1897. As the result of the union they have a daughter, Miss Lucy Glidden Burke. By his first marriage he has two sons, Charles, keeper of Wood Island Light at Saco River; Clinton, who is at present in Cuba, and a daughter, Mrs. Wendell P. Williams of Boothbay.

Last winter, during a very stormy period, both Capt. Burke and his wife were taken sick and were brought to the mainland. The trip was a hazardous one, owing to the difficulty of removing the two sick persons from the rock-bound island to the tug St. Mitchell Davis, but was finally accomplished.

Capt. Burke is a member of St. John's Lodge 1, A. F. & A. M.; Washington Chapter, R. A. M., of Portsmouth and Piscataqua Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star of Kittery.

Capt. Burke will succeed William M. Brooks of Kittery Point as keeper at Cape Neddick Light, commonly called the "Nubble Light." With his retirement from the Isles of Shoals light he will enjoy the distinction of being the only living ex-keeper of this important light station.

THIS IS RICH.

An inspector of the revenue service has issued an order that hereafter the lookouts in the various life-saving stations should not have a chair to sit in while on duty in the look out, but should be obliged to stand during the entire watch. The order is about the limit and the party who issued it should be obliged to take a dose of his own medicine. It was the case the order would not last long.

ENTERTAINED AT HILTON HALL

The officers of the various Masonic lodges of this city to the number of thirty-five enjoyed an outing Sunday at Hilton Hall at Dover Point. Proprietor Hilton made an ideal host and he served a very excellent dinner.

WINTER TIME.

The local electric road will go on winter time today, but the change is very slight, as the same schedule will be maintained on the main line and in the loops, the only change being in the North Hampton schedule.

The remainder of Islington street will be open to travel today.

CONCORD LETTER

Concord, September 30.—All of the party conventions in New Hampshire now have been held and it is possible and interesting to make some comparisons between them. That of the Republicans was the largest and most serious; that of the Democrats the most calm and confident; that of the Progressives the most alive and enthusiastic. And these characteristics are likely to continue throughout the campaign. The Republican state committee will make a very careful canvass to get out to the polls the last one of the 10,000 stay-at-homes of the last few campaigns; and will employ printers ink very largely in an endeavor to get President Taft's record and position fairly before the voters. The Democratic state committee is sounding the slogan, and actually believing in it, of "Elect Peabody governor by the people." It intends to fully match the work of its opponents as regards publicity and because of the lack of widely circulated newspapers in the purchase of its own denomination it will spend several thousand dollars in the purchase of advertising space in Republican papers. But the Progressives will see both the Republican and Democrats in this publicity game and go them one better by establishing a newspaper of their own and backing it $100,000 worth. They have plenty of money, lots of energy and confidently expect to put in effect a good deal of their tremendous platform by holding and utilizing the balance of power at the polls and in the legislature. It is the most remarkable political situation in this generation and some experts are giving most of their time to figuring out possible, though not very probably, combinations as intricate as those of a bank vault door.

Last week the progressives followed the Democrats in holding state conventions so promptly as to keep the hotel beds continuously warm and the whole town talking politics practically all the time. The Democrats heard good speeches by Chairman C. C. Hayes of Manchester, who was impressive, sonorous and capable, and by Candidates Pecker, Stevens and Reed; adopted an admirably concise platform; and nominated for presidential electors Millionaires Sullivan of Manchester and Tilton of Tilton, and 7-20-4 and young Harvard; John P. Fattée of North Stratford and City Solicitor Fred Brown of Somersworth, the one time big league baseball player. It looked as though Alderman Dick Barry of Manchester might start something when he perched the Reed-Holla Baltimore row as a chip or cared to knock it off, and the day's peace unbroken.

There were two notable things about the Progressive convention which was held in the Auditorium theatre instead of in Phoenix hall; women were present as accredited delegates and there was no tobacco smoke in the air. The air was heavy instead with words, words large and long short and snappy, words round and square and hot and cold. The hottest came from Clarence B. Clough of Lebanon and his national prototype, Governor Hiram W. Johnson of California; the longest were included in Professor George Jay Wicker's monumental, not to say, monotonous platform; and the one that got the most space in the newspapers came from Governor Bass, the chairman of the meeting and from Winthrop Churchill, nominated by acclamation as the party candidate for governor.

Outside of the convention halls the most interesting place in Concord last week was in the general committee room at the state house where the state tax commission was hearing evidence on the railroad tax appeals. The Boston & Maine having given the state and the public, at the behest of the legislature, a remarkable amount of information about its business, management and finances, is inclined to have some of the other industries of New Hampshire be equally frank, and in the hearing mentioned it is getting at the facts as to the taxation of the great tracts of timber land in the far north country, Clarksville and Pittsburg on the Canada line having been the towns particularly considered last week. The testimony given was of a nature to cause members of the next legislature and others as well as the tax commissioners, to take thought.

It is in the air among railroad men that extensive changes in the official staff of the Boston & Maine, New Haven system are impending. The story goes that President Mellen is not satisfied with the rate of progress made in modernizing the Boston & Maine; that he is ready and able to furnish the necessary funds; and that he is determined to put men in charge who will get the most value out of that money in the quickest time. It is said that in view of the showing made for the road by Counsel Rich and Kelley and their witnesses in the rate hearing no hostile legislation is expected from the next general court and that work is to be rushed on equipment, extensions and betterments. This much is sure, the local railroad shops are running to their capacity and the force at the Keene shops has just now been largely increased.

The first of the few recounts following the primary was held at the state house on Friday and resulted in no material change from the moderators' declarations in the 18th senatorial district, the Democratic section of Manchester.

The secretary of state for the next fortnight will be busy in receiving nominations for the official ballot by petition and in arranging for the publication in the newspapers of the state of the proposed amendments to the constitution of the state, the fate of which is to be decided on election day. These amendments as well as the addition of another political party will add materially to the size of the official ballots and will make their marking and particularly their counting a task of magnitude.

SWIMS ACROSS BAY

Young Girl Makes Half a Mile in Record Time.

Six-Year-Old Covers Long Distance at Dover in Nineteen Minutes—Cuts Her Way Through Waves Like an Expert.

Dover.—Visitors to Dover and promoters on the harbor piers were astonished recently to see a little mite of a girl, barely more than a baby, take the water with all the ease and aplomb of a channel swimmer, and proceed to swim half a mile across the bay in the record time of 19 minutes.

And the sight was in truth a remarkable one. The diminutive swimmer, looking the merest speck on the sunlit waters, cut her way through the waves with a businesslike, sturdy, breast stroke that would have done credit to a Wolff or a Holbein.

Swimming by her side with watchful eyes was Mrs. Jack Weldman, the channel swimmer. But the little record-maker needed no guardianship. Instead, the little girl finished her half mile as fresh as a cricket without aid of any kind, and this although the sea was anything but smooth. By some people it would have been considered chippy.

The plucky little girl who achieved this novel performance is Freda Pickett, a six-year-old pupil of Miss Jarvis, sister of the English champion swimmer.

The part of Dover bay covered by the child is that which lies between the Prince of Wales pier to the Promenade pier, a distance of half a mile, which she covered in the extraordinary time of 19 minutes.

The child's parents belong to Market Harborough (Leicestershire). Jack (Weldman) is enthusiastic about her prowess.

Little Freda is a merry-looking child, just over three feet high, and slightly built.

In a chat which I had with the little swimmer she said: "I love the water and always look forward to my swimming lessons. I swim at Market Harborough and go over to Leicester once a week for my lesson from Miss Jarvis."

"I wanted to do this swim from pier to pier, but when I was out a little way I felt lonely. Then Mr. Weldman came along."

"He has swum with me in the bay for several days past, and I feel all right as long as he is near."

"He is so big, you see," added the mite, "and he takes me on his back when I feel tired."

Asked if she meant to try and swim the channel when she grows up, the little fairy responded with enthusiasm.

"I should like to," she said, "but I should want Mr. Weldman to come with me."

Little Freda mainly relies on the breast stroke in her swimming, and her head is well out of the water. She changes to the side stroke at times, and when she is tired she turns on her back and floats.

She was as merry as could be throughout the swim. When she had got about half way and was asked how she felt, she laughingly replied: "I feel fine."

CATS AGENTS OF DISEASE

Massachusetts City's Health Board Believes Household Pets Caused Epidemic.

Springfield, Mass.—Officials of the local health department believe they have traced the source of infantile paralysis to the house cat. The health inspectors have discovered several well-developed cases in cats and will send several of the affected animals to Boston for observation.

The disease was epidemic in various cities two years ago, and the number of cases reported in Springfield approximated the figures of New York and Philadelphia.

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 14.—To prevent a spread here of infantile paralysis, now prevalent in Los Angeles and other northern ports, the board of health of San Diego has declared a quarantine, restricting children from attending public places.

WERE LOST ON BERRY HUNT

Washington Attorneys Are Finally Found With the Aid of Bloodhounds.

Walla Walla, Wash.—Wilbur Toner and Frank Crowe, local attorneys, lost in the Blue mountains, were found on Salmon river, fifty miles from Walla Walla. They were trailed by bloodhounds. The young men, almost exhausted, were making their way slowly down the river through the wildest country in the range.

Toner and Crowe left their camp to hunt huckleberries. After they had been absent 36 hours other members of their party notified the police. They had wandered 25 miles from their camp. Sheriff M. Toner, father of one of the men, led the searching party.

secured the general acceptance of the plan of scientifically-informed revision of the tariff and the first establishment of a non-partisan commission to get the facts on which to base such revision. He vigorously enforced the Sherman Anti-Trust law without fear of favor, and the results in this field of the first three years of his administration are far beyond those of any preceding administration. The Sherman law has been fully interpreted and its meaning and power made clear to the whole business world. President Taft has accomplished much more than any of his predecessors ever attempted for the restoration of normal competition in business. He has effectively grappled with the world-wide problem of the high cost of living by seeking the establishment of an international scientific commission to discover the causes and suggest the remedies, and this is the only way in which this problem can be honestly dealt with.

Advantages for the Farmers and Workers

President Taft's administration has been remarkably effective in advancing the welfare of farmers and all workers. Not in many years have the farmers been so prosperous as during this administration. The great necessary conditions for the real welfare of the workingmen have been much improved. The first of these necessary conditions is certainty of employment. This is bound to be dependent on normally prosperous business conditions. Under President Taft the effects of the panic of 1907 (often called the Roosevelt panic) have been rapidly overcome, business confidence has been restored and prosperity renewed. Business men know that a period has begun which, if not checked by political disturbances, will be a time of greater industrial activity and development than we have known for many years. The next great necessity of the workers is sufficiently liberal compensation for their labor. This must depend on the profits of business enterprises. President Taft has been foremost in the effort to maintain reasonable profits. To maintain them is to maintain and increase the prospect of higher wages.

A model law of employer's liability and workmen's compensation, in accordance with the report of a commission appointed by President Taft, was recommended by him and its adoption strongly urged; and he is now planning to put a similar law into operation in Panama. He secured the enactment of a child labor law for the District of Columbia, and of the safety appliance act to protect railroad employees. He secured the establishment of the Bureau of Mines, for the protection of miners. Through his administration great frauds on the people through the misuse of the mails have been broken up, a postal savings bank has been established, and the long-desired parcel post system begun. The president has also secured remarkable economies in the administration of the various departments of the government. He has pushed the work on the Panama Canal toward an unexpectedly rapid completion. He also recommended and secured the law taxing the net earnings of corporations. These are only some of the more important achievements of President Taft.

Gov. Johnson's Hypocritical Statements About Fraud

You again show your persistent unfairness in your speech at Syracuse, N. Y., on September 6, before the New York state convention of your new third party. You again make the statement that at the republican national convention two delegates from San Francisco were unfairly seated and you say in effect that the two delegates not seated were stolen away from the people of California. Why will you not state this case fully and fairly? You are familiar with all the facts. Why do you not show that the national committee, under the terms of the convention call and party precedent in national affairs, had to guarantee to the people of every congressional district the right to select their delegates to the national convention, and thus could not do otherwise than seat the duly-elected district delegates? You know very well that the national committee and national convention must establish the rule of representation for all the states and that the rule must be uniform for all in order to be fair and avoid chaos, while California regulates its own affairs only. You know very well that the primary law of California went into effect after the call for the national convention was issued and that it was absolutely impossible for the national committee when it assembled to repudiate the terms of its own call, on which the republicans of all states had acted. You know very well that the national committee and national convention can only act, as they have acted, in obedience to the time-honored American principle of majority rule. You know very well that the national committee and national convention have no powers of oppression, that, subject to the constitution and statutes of the United States, their organization is practically a voluntary association whose customs and rules are changed when the majority of the members wish it, and that no state has the right or power to dictate to associations of citizens from all the states.

If you hold to the idea that voters by districts and every other consideration ought to yield to the will of the voters as expressed in state-wide elections, why do you not apply this idea to Massachusetts as well as to California? You know very well that in Massachusetts the state-wide vote at the primaries was for President Taft by a very substantial majority, but that between eight and nine thousand votes for Taft delegates at large were thrown out because of a technical error in marking the ballots. You know very well, and you know that even Mr. Roosevelt admitted it publicly at that time, that the republican voters of Massachusetts had declared for Mr. Taft and that the Taft delegates at large had been fairly chosen and that the inaccurately-marked ballots really represented the purpose of the men who cast them. But, as you know, the throwing out of these invalidated ballots gave a technical majority to the Roosevelt delegates at large, and these delegates, with only a minority of the republican primary votes back of them, took seats in the republican convention and used their places and authority for Mr. Roosevelt to the end. Why do you not denounce this as a fraud on the people? It is because you know that Mr. Roosevelt and his followers will take advantage of every technicality or established procedure that will give him an advantage and then thunder moral platitudes against a similar procedure somewhere else where it operates to his disadvantage. You know that Mr. Roosevelt will not respect any rule or arrangement, or even his own solemn pledge, when it interferes with his purpose.

You know that Mr. Roosevelt will not respect any rule or arrangement, or even his own solemn pledge, when it interferes with his purpose.

You are playing the same part of deceitful cant, humbug and hypocrisy. Why do you not denounce the great fraud attempted by Mr. Roosevelt when, through the use of enterprising agents apparently well supplied with money, he had an enormous number of contests for seats in the republican convention framed up in Southern states. You know that when these Southern contests came before the national committee so many of them collapsed completely or were abandoned by the Roosevelt people themselves; that the truth was made known to all; that one of the Roosevelt leaders, Mr. Frank A. Munsey, in his newspaper, the Washington Times, publicly admitted that these contests were worked up simply "for psychological effect as a move in practical politics"; that is, to fool the people of the North and West into the idea that there was enough popular demand for Mr. Roosevelt to enable him to secure the republican nomination. You know very well that Mr. Roosevelt claimed all along that these contests were required by his devotion to truth and justice, and you know that if he could have had his way he would have packed the republican national convention with these now thoroughly-discredited Southern Roosevelt contestants and stolen the republican nomination by their votes. When his fraudulent plans collapsed and he could not secure the republican nomination, he shouts that it was stolen from him and attempts to destroy the party that put him into the presidency.

Mr. Roosevelt Is Two-Faced

Your statements and Mr. Roosevelt's recent actions and statements show clearly the sort of men you are and your unfitness for high office. You do not show yourselves to be able to be fair and to administer equal and exact justice. Mr. Roosevelt gained a great deal of favorable attention by preaching constantly about his devotion to the "square deal." But he does not practice what he preaches. The square deal is not found in his acts. It is characteristic of him that he will play a shabby trick on anybody in any matter when he thinks it will serve his purpose of self-advancement. He poses as a champion of truth, but among those who know him his word is regarded as a pleasant joke. His candidacy is one of the most notable examples in our history of the shameful breaking of a great and solemn pledge.

In your speech at Columbus, Ohio, before the state convention of the third party, you said, as reported, in reference to Mr. Roosevelt:

"We have the greatest two-handed fighter America has ever seen."

This probably referred to Mr. Roosevelt's well-known left-handed and underhanded methods. Your statement would have been clearer and more accurate if you had said:

"We have the greatest two-faced fighter America has ever seen."

For Mr. Roosevelt is the two-faced candidate. That is the conspicuous feature about him. He is two-faced in his attitude before the farmers concerning Canadian reciprocity, which he worked for when it was an issue and now condemns when it is dead, hoping to gain the votes of many farmers who do not know the truth about the matter. He is two-faced in his attitude on the tariff, which he persistently neglected all the time he was president, and now pretends much concern for when he wants the votes of workers. He is ridiculously two-faced in what he now proposes in this matter for the workers. He says he will see to it that there is enough tariff to enable our industries to keep alive, but that if he finds that the wage workers do not get a reasonable share of the benefits of the duties he will try to have the duties removed, and of course the incidental benefits removed with them. So the workers may retain the benefits or they may not. The duties may stay on or go off. How can anyone tell?

He is two-faced also in his attitude on woman suffrage, which he belittled and sneered at when he was in power and which now receives his exuberant lip-service when he is desperately in need of the influence of the women. He is two-faced also in his attitude toward self-government by the people. In his noble generalities in words he would make it appear that he is the only champion of popular self-government. Yet the items of his program comprise the establishment of a great paternalism, a vast and firmly-fixed centralized authority at Washington of which Roosevelt would be dictator, invading individual freedom and local self-government. He preaches freedom of the people from oppression, but proposes to legalize monopoly and make it permanent and regulate it as he thinks it ought to be regulated, and to eliminate business competition as an obsolete thing. His proposed paternalistic despotism would add vastly to the number of government employees and inspectors, increase the public expenditures and indebtedness, weaken the national credit, oppress and retard business enterprise, and check our progress in prosperity.

Mr. Roosevelt Would Capitalize All Social Betterment for His Ambition.

You must know that the multitudinous promises of Mr. Roosevelt and his platform are simply bait to catch votes and that many of them cannot possibly be realized. You must know that the whole matter is arranged, like the Roosevelt Southern contests, for psychological effect as a move in practical politics. It is to fool the people of the country and capitalize for the satisfaction of Mr. Roosevelt's insatiable personal ambition all the hopes and plans and processes of social betterment and progress which have been cherished and faithfully worked forward by many thousands of our best citizens in municipalities and local units of self-government and in the state activities throughout the country, while Mr. Roosevelt was devoting all his great energy to the advancement of his personal prominence and political power.

You must know that Mr. Roosevelt's program contains features that are very dangerous for the security of our free institutions. You must know that the proposed recall of judicial decisions prepares the way for the elimination of the constitutional guarantees that protect individual life, liberty and property in the states and in the nation. You know that Mr. Roosevelt's program is for the most part a long step into socialism and that it is the socialist purpose to establish collective ownership of the land and practically all the industry of the country. Thinking men know these things and they know also that the individuals who make up the enterprise, prosperity and progress of our country may have to fight in the future against confiscation of their individual possessions, which seems to be in the air in socialist circles. Under these circumstances they need our just and tried constitutional guarantees more than ever, and they will not, I am confident, encourage the election to the presidency and vice-presidency of men who have shown themselves unfair, hypocritical and treacherous, and who propose to emasculate the constitution and make any and all political promises that seem likely to catch votes. Your adherence to such a program and such methods stamps you as a demagogue, in the true meaning of that term.

Yours truly,

F. W. ESTABROOK.

Little Girls in Perils.

The birth of a girl in Persia is received with pity, even by her mother. "Why should I not weep over my little girl, who will have to endure the same miseries as I have known?" she cries. "She is of so little value! Who knows whether her father will not one day throw her out of the window and so silence forever her wailing? And why should he be annoyed? He knows he may do such a thing with impunity. No one cares any more than if it was a cat which had to suffer for his wrath." From the hour of birth the social inequality between the sexes asserts itself. Infant mortality is very high owing to the ignorance and inexperience of the women. Since celibacy is considered a disgrace, girls are often married as young as 10 or 12. In order to reduce the rate of infant mortality some men have suggested that the mother should have a finger cut off every time she lost a child. This cruelty, however, has not been adopted. But that it should have entered into the minds of any Persian men is significant enough.

Oak Mine.

Mines of wood are found in the south of Russia, where they were discovered very recently when the bed of a river was dragged. Not very deep in the earth but covering an extent of 200 square kilometers a forest of oaks was found where it had been buried by some unknown cataclysm centuries ago. The wood is in perfect preservation. The men who found the entombed forest had drawn from his mine many trunks of trees measuring from forty to sixty meters high and at least eighteen inches in diameter. The mine is worth a fortune for the wood is of the first quality and as a result of its long rest underground it has taken the most varied colors, ranging from dark brown to pale rose and running through all the shades of blue and yellow. One hundred and fifty thousand of the ancient oaks have been turned over to the cabinet makers—Harper's Weekly.

A Fable.

Once upon a time there was a bold bad man whose whole life was an exercise in revolt. When he entered a shop or establishment with swing doors, one of which was lettered "Pull" and the other "Push," he pushed the one which he should have pulled, and on leaving he pulled the one which he should have pushed. Wherever it was forbidden he walked on the grass and threw orange-peel on the pavement. He smoked in the subway. On railway journeys he put heavy articles on the track and his feet on the opposite seat, and got out before the car stopped. Yet when he came to die he had just as nice a tombstone as anybody else.

Nests of Various Birds.

The woodpeckers, nuthatches, bluebirds and wrens choose holes for their domiciles; the crows and hawks erect huge homes of sticks in the tops of trees; the warblers place their eggs in deep, cuplike structures; the cuckoos, doves and grosbeaks are satisfied with the simplest sort of receptacles (whenever I find eggs of these birds I am fearful they will roll out long before they are hatched), while the thrushes seek the deep recesses of the woods, where they build their homes of small twigs and grapevines.—Exchange.

Artistic Envelope Linings.

Casting about him for some new object to decorate, the top of extravagance has hit upon the lining of envelopes and turned out a most artistic piece of work. Envelopes lined with colored paper have long been in common use on the continent of Europe, but never before found favor in America. These new envelopes are lined with satin, the part which is exposed on tearing them open being hand-painted with flowers. The work is done by deft Japanese artists and is necessary to say—they are expensive.

Can You Believe It?

Louis Ludden, member of a clam bake party at Winsted, Connecticut, stood beside a barrel of clams which was partially covered. In taking some matches from his trousers pocket, he pulled out a $5 gold piece, which dropped into the barrel. The barrel was emptied but no coin was to be found. In due course of time the clams, after being washed, were placed in a steamer with other sea food. When the man who lost the gold piece got his portion of clams he found his lost coin reposing in a shell with a steamed clam.

Remedy Lies With Women.

The editor of the Delineator says: "Wherever American laws remain unjust to women the fault lies with the women. There is no longer any excuse for women saying they do not know where wrong legal conditions exist. Newspapers, magazines, lecturers, pamphlets, to say nothing of the eight hundred thousand club women of the country, see to it that every injustice has an airing as soon as it becomes evident."

Value of Swimming Lessons.

Florence Sheppard, a Windsor school-girl, recently demonstrated the value of swimming, being included in the school curriculum, when in a most plucky manner she rescued another little girl, aged five years, from drowning in the Thames. Without waiting for a call for help, Miss Sheppard jumped into the river and went to the rescue of her companion, who had already gone down twice before she reached her.—London Telegraph.
